A S without Religion, every Government must inevitably fall into the utmost Confusion, so in every State where it flourishes, the people are happy; and as nothing nourishes Religion more than a constant reading the Holy Scriptures, so nothing is more conducive thereto, than rendering the Reading thereof easy and familiar to the meanest Capacity: The good Consequence of which will soon be found by the Public in general, and by every Individual in particular. For as the Case now stands, few Persons (that have not learned the Oriental Languages) care to read such Chapters of those Divine Books, where the proper Names occur (and there are but few, where some of them are not to be found) for fear of misnaming them: [Like one of the Lay-Clerks in a certain Cathedral, who in reading the first Lesson, and observing some proper Names, shut the Book; and after Service was over, one of the Prebends asking him why he did not read the Chapter out, made this Reply, I am satisfied they were all good Men, and I was unwilling to call them out of their Names.] Nay, the Clergy themselves do not agree in pronouncing many of them, some calling the same Word quite differently from others, having no other Rule but such as Fancy throws in their way, which discourages many from attempting to read (at least) great Part of the Holy Scriptures, and all for want of some Method or stated Rule to pronounce proper Names by, which I am so vain to think, I have now compleated. And tho' it is impossible, that any Thing of this Kind should make its Appearance without some Objection, from those who have hitherto been bigotted to their own Opinions; especially such who have already given to several Words their own fanciful Names, yet I am persuaded, that Fancy will now, in a great Measure, lose its Force, and the next Generation come into one general Method of pronouncing, with very little Variation.

I have used this Method in my School upwards of Twenty Years, and have found it very useful and very easy to attain: Many of the Clergy, who have heard my Scholars read some of the difficult Chapters in the Bible, have been very much pleased therewith, and when I shewed them my Method, they were more so.

Having been often importuned to publish it, I have at last revised it, and made some Additions, &c. I perused, with great Care, every Verse in the Old and New Testament, as also the Apocrypha, and every proper Name of Person or Place, &c. I wrote down under its proper Letter (for tho' I had both Newman's and the Cambridge Concordance before me, I found them deficient in many Names) and when I had thus gone through the Whole, I collected them into alphabetical Order, then I divided each Word into its due Number of Syllables, and placed its Accent over its proper Syllable; and where I thought this not sufficient to have the Word duly understood, as to the right Way of pronouncing it, I have explained it, either by a Note at the Bottom of the Page, or given some Rule for the same ; by all which, when any Person, in reading the Holy Scriptures, meets with a proper Name he is not certain how to pronounce, let him turn to the following List, where he will be sure to find it in its proper Place, and so divided and accented that he cannot miss of rightly pronouncing it ; and by this Means a general Method may be attained of pronouncing the Scripture Names ; so that every Parent may say to his Child as St. Paul said to Timothy: From a Child thou hast known the Holy Scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto Salvation, through Faith, which is in CHRIST JESUS, which is the hearty Prayer of your well Wisher, Enfield, Sept. 1, 1760.

RULES

Refer'd to in the following

L I S T.

Rule I. cb in most Scripture names have the Sound of k, so A-chan sounds A-kan; and Ach-bor sounds Ak-bor, &c.

Rule II. i in the middle of many Words; and y always at the end, have the Sound of e, thus Ab-di-el sounds Ab-de-el, and A-bi-gail sounds Ab-e-gail; so A-pol-ly-on sounds A-pol-e-on, and A-poth-e-ca-ry sounds A-poth-e-co-re, &c.

Rule III. In many Words ge hath an hard Sound, as get, not jet; so A-gee, not A-jee; Ager not A jer, &c.

Rule IV. In some Words gi hath also an hard Sound, as in Gift, not Jift; give not jive; so Gid-e-on, not Jid-e-on, Gi-bon, not Ji-bon, &c.

Rule V. oe sounds o, oes sounds o's, sia sounds sha, iel Sounds yel, cia sounds sha, &c.
